Uncovering Fear in Meditation Do you pay for that bad thought?

This teaching is published in 'The Facets of the Diamond'.

There was a general discussion after the meditation of The Journey in the Garden. Each pupil had been affected in a different way. One pupil had a disturbed feeling for some time and asked Songee to explain the reason.

I think Songee probably knows what the problem is, I have a feeling that it is in my memory.

Uncovering Fear in Meditation

Songee: First of all you must be left of the fear. The fear, the mountains and all the things with a little lump of dirt, that is so. Now take away the cover that is on top of this mountain. It is covered with a big something. Take it away and underneath you will see that there is only a little piece of earth. Then you can look at it properly, see it for what it is. For the lesson that it was meant to teach, for you to choose it. It was not given to you by Mother without your consent.

You choose this thing for learning and for karma. So remove the cover you look at the little grains of dirt, it is not a big mountain. Take away the fear, the fear is the big thing that covers it and remember that you have chosen it. So then, therefore remember the people, what power have they? They have none because you have learned the lesson from it. Lesson of value which you will discover when you look upon it with your eyes and then forgiveness will come. Not just to those who were part of helping with the debt to be paid back to you but the forgiveness for yourself for incurring the debt in this way.

At this point now without the fear, there is nothing to fear.

Everything that has happened for you in this life you have chosen, remember that. There is no big hole to gobble you up, there is no shame. There is only understanding and knowledge and wisdom and then forgiveness will be there for you. For the debt will have been paid in full and then you can go on to something else. It is better to know that, that one is not going to be paid again unless you do it all over again.

Why do we choose to get into these situations in the first place? Is it a learning situation?

Songee: It is learning and it is also that you have debt to pay. If you say about another person bad things, then you can be very certain that, that will come back to you only twice as much.

In this life or the next one?

Songee: Anytime, some upwards will pay it back as they go. That is because they have reached a point where all karma has been paid from previous existence. Most however do not have this happen, little thing is big thing. No it does not always come back in this lifetime. That is why when you look upon the world and you look at all the disharmony and all the wrong happening upon the world, it is make for you in your mind the confusion of how it is that someone is so bad. So evil can appear to not be punished for something that they do even in their lifetime. You would not like to be them in their lifetime. However you, provided you are very naughty, you would like to look to see however that is not permitted either. To do that means that you want to look for vengeance, that is not for the Soul. That is only for the Oneness and the Soul that committed the wrong. It is between the Oneness and the one who committed the wrong not between those two and everybody else as well. That way the one who does the wrong chooses the punishment for themselves.

Usually it is chosen so that the Soul repays in full the amount of pain that the action has inflicted upon those that they did wrong doing to. It is not important that they do repay to these same people. Although sometimes they are given the opportunity to do this it is not essential.

Do you pay for that bad thought?

If you send out a bad thought, do you pay for that bad thought? Sometimes I think that I'd like to, then I think I shouldn't do it.

Songee: Something of an equal nature will come back to you, every little thing. However if you have been thinking bad thoughts which has been showing it is not possible to not have thinking this way, all humans have this failing. It is possible to make atonement by sending love instead, in abundance.

That is very difficult if you really feel the struggle and the pain.

Songee: Especially if the one that you are thinking of will have a tremendous hatred and anger and will them, as though you wish them that they were under a big rock and you were putting it down on top of them. You send them love to that one instead, with much abundance. You will be surprised how magnificent the world will become if you do it. However you have made observation it was not one of you but several of you.

That when you now mix with others who do not have Enlightenment that you do have, that you have managed to get to this point that those people appear to be not with you, that you are outside of them. Do not immerse yourself in that feeling and imagine that you have been granted, through your own choice, the life in which you can pursue this avenue of learning. They have not reached that point and many will do so and you will all meet again.

Can we continue with this learning and with this type of life if we wish, through every lifetime.

Songee: If you wish it can continue. The expression of this work can take many forms, it does not have to be exactly as you have it at this time. You can choose another way to express it and remember that when you do have feeling of those around you who are sitting and everyone around you talking of things to do at night and the plans they make to go make a big fire and getting together and having lots of things to drink and eat.

That something in you does not feel the belonging anymore because that is not for you anymore. It is not that you do not know how to enjoy yourself and there is time when you will do so.

However there is now becoming a little gap that separates you from the other. Have you heard the term that the farmer had to separate the wheat from the chaff. In the old days when the farmer wish to get the wheat. He will bash the wheat upon the ground and the wheat, the germ of the wheat will fall away as seed.

Then the husk of the wheat will fall away and you will sweep away the chaff. Blow it away and you will gather up the wheat. So who was it who had the field of the wheat?

(The pupils discussed the changes within themselves, their attitudes to other people following the study and learning over the preceding six months.)

Songee: Now it is time for all to express the Healing Energy for each other and then it is time for you to watch your time. There is a little time to express the love and healing. I will remain while you do this work.

(The Healing and Love were channelled to each other.)

Songee: It is done

NOW I LEAVE YOU WITH THE POWER.
